

Our trip to Cambridge

A small group of students from IB08 travelled to Cambridge, England, to explore the English way of life and school. It was a 5-day trip filled with new experiences, snug little English houses, kind British people and fried food. On top of this we paid a visit to the great city of London.

Thomas Deacon Academy, Peterborough

We were told in advance to wear “business clothes” this day to blend in with the students at Deacon Academy since they wear a school uniform every day. We got the impression of this being a very organized and studious school. We attended IB2’s Italian and French classes, which were similar to ours since we actually have the same syllabus.

Sightseeing in Cambridge

We had our own guide who showed us around in Cambridge, a city filled with young students, more or less like Uppsala in Sweden. The guide showed us the world-famous chapel of King’s College, some colleges and a library which among other things kept Newton’s Latin notebook.

The great city of London

We went by train to London where we visited Big Ben, Piccadilly Circus, Millennium Bridge and many other places. We got some spare time to decide for ourselves what to do; some of us went to shop in Oxford Street, while others visited Notting Hill and Camden Market.

We are all happy with our trip to England and we’d like to thank Elisabeth and Judith who organized this trip!
